Dear Alan

I know you have been made aware of my concerns about anti-social behaviour on public transport.

I have noticed an increasing amount of anti-social behaviour when I travel around on buses (and trains). In talking to people about this I have become aware that some passengers have been subject to verbal and some physical abuse when they have remonstrated with people behaving in a poor way.

I saw, myself, a bus driver nearly attacked by a youth who refused to stop playing his music out loud.

I wanted to draw this matter to the attention of the Community Safety Forum and would like to speak at the next meeting.

All good wishes.

Yours sincerely
